RESTORATION IN CRITICAL CARE ENVIRONMENTS

Premier Restoration Hawai'i's Health Care Division is specifically trained to work in critical environments, like medical facilities and hospitals, where reducing the risk of healthcare-associated infections during a project is paramount.

Our operational supervisors and technicians receive ICRA Training for occupied facilities and hold Critical Environmental Reconstruction Contractor Certifications from the Linders Health Institute. Our staff understands the sensitivities and liability associated with cross contamination and secondary infection within healthcare and critical environments and are disciplined in using the industry's best practices.

PROCESS

1. Establish critical barriers for work areas.
